

Teaching and Modeling Behavior

This course, authored by Bruce Brown, Director of Proactive Coaching and a master clinician, helps teacher/coaches understand the importance of modeling appropriate behavior and promoting good sportsmanship. Coaches will understand how inappropriate behavior affects how they and their teams are perceived by students, fans, opposing teams, and officials. This course highlights the benefits of a proactive approach in teaching and modeling behavior, as well as specific approaches for rehearsing appropriate behavior and sportsmanship.

Course Objectives

- Coaches will learn about competition and what it means to compete
- Understand the definition of modeling behavior and sportsmanship
- Understand how inappropriate behavior affects how they and their teams are perceived by students, fans and officials
- Learn the benefits of taking a proactive approach in teaching and modeling behavior
- Coaches will learn specific approaches for rehearsing appropriate behavior and sportsmanship
- Coaches will understand their role in crowd control during competition

Units

- Teaching and Modeling Behavior
- Effects of Inappropriate Behavior
- Teaching Appropriate Behavior
- Dealing with Fans and Parents

More

- Unlimited access to course & resources for one year from date of purchase
- Required course for  certification
- Approved by NFHS for 3 course clock hours

More Information at nfhslearn.com!